Census

Nonpopulation Census Schedules for Louisiana, 1850–1880.

Microfilm	15 rolls	NARA MT1136	Locality	Louisiana
-----------	----------	-------------	----------	-----------

The social statistics and agriculture returns plus the 1880 manufacturing schedules are featured in this collection. The arrangement is by type of record, census, year, county, and individual.

Immigration

Passenger Lists Taken from Manifests of the Customs Service, Port of New Orleans.

Microfilm	5 rolls		Immigration	Louisiana
-----------	---------	--	-------------	-----------

These are volumes numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6. They contain customs passenger lists for the years 1813–1867. They appear to have been copied from cargo manifests and passenger lists. Each volume has an alphabetical index. It is important to note that these lists provide coverage for thirteen earlier years than the federal lists.

Passenger Lists of Vessels Arriving at New Orleans, 1820–1902.

Microfilm	93 rolls	NARA M259	Immigration	Louisiana

These are the unbound passenger lists of vessels arriving at the port of New Orleans from foreign ports, 1820–1902 and January 1903. Most of the lists are those submitted by masters of vessels to the collector of customs at New Orleans. Some cargo manifests that included names and sometimes ages of passengers were inserted as substitutes for missing documents. The lists are arranged chronologically by arrival date of vessel. They normally give the name of each passenger, age, sex, occupation, the country to which he or she belonged, and the country he or she intended to inhabit. Notations as to the number of and cause of deaths on board are also reported.

Milton P. Rieder has published the early records as New Orleans Ship Lists, R929.3/L8OR, in two volumes covering 1 January 1820–23 June 1823. W. M. von Maszewski's German Emigration Ships to New Orleans 1865–1869 treats German colonists, many of whom settled in Texas.

Quarterly Abstracts of Passenger Lists of Vessels Arriving at New Orleans, 1820–1875.

-----------	----------	-----------	-------------	-----------

These are the bound and unbound quarterly abstracts of passenger lists of vessels arriving at the port of New Orleans from foreign ports between January 1820 and July 1875. These are copies of passenger lists in the form of unbound quarterly abstracts 1820–1844 and some later years and a series of bound copies of abstracts for the period 1845–1875. There are gaps in both series. Some unbound abstracts for the years 1845–1850 were inserted as substitutes for missing documents in the bound series. They are arranged chronologically by arrival date of vessel and contain the names of the vessels, their dates of arrival, the port of embarkation, and usually the same information required on the passenger lists themselves.

Proofs of Citizenship for Seamen's Protection Certificates for the Port of New Orleans, Louisiana, 1800–1857.

Authorized by the act of 1796, seamen's protection certificates were issued by the Collector of Customs at individual ports to merchant seamen and masters of merchant vessels engaged in foreign trade. They were voluntary and not required. Seamen had to produce proof of citizenship and pay the requisite fee for the certificate.

The purpose of the certificates was to prevent detention and impressment of American seamen on U.S. merchant vessels and was a direct response to the policy of Great Britain which considered that a British subject was always a British subject.

The declaration for a certificate include the name of the seaman, his age, place of birth, place of residence, port and date of declaration, and the seamen's height, hair color, eye color, and complexion. The name of a witness and a certificate number also appear. The numbering system usually began anew each year although sometimes it was carried over. The unnumbered certificates are filmed first for each year. No declarations before 1850 are numbered.

There are gaps in the records. Certificates exist for 1800, 1802, 1804–1807, 1809–1812, 1814–1816, 1818–1819, 1821, 1850–1851, and 1855–1857.

Consult Ruth Dixon's Indexes to Seamen's Protection Certificate Applications and Proofs of Citizenship: Ports of New Orleans, Louisiana, 1808–1821, 1851–1857, New Haven, Connecticut, 1801–1843, Bath, Maine, 1833–1868: Additional Ports of ...; Record Group 36, Records of the Bureau of Customs, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, D.C., R929.373/D621I/1998, to determine if a record exist for a particular individual.

Indians

Letterbook of the Natchitoches-Sulphur Fork Factory 1809–1821.

Microfilm	1 roll	NARA MT1029	Locality	Louisiana
-----------	--------	-------------	----------	-----------

This micropublication contains copies of the letter sent to the Superintendent of Indian affairs in Washington, D.C., military officers, merchants, and others in one of the first trading posts established west of the Mississippi River. Located a short distance above Natchitoches, the trading post was moved upriver to Sulphur Fork, Arkansas, in 1818. There is a gap in the letters from 26 May 1820 to 9 March 1821 when the factor was ill and died.

The Papers of Vicente Sebastian Pintado.

Microfilm	6 rolls		Locality	Louisiana
-----------	---------	--	----------	-----------

Vicente Sebastian Pintado (1774–1829) was the surveyor general of Spanish West Florida. His collection of papers numbers 1500 items and includes correspondence, bills of sale, court transcripts, testimonies, surveys, notebooks, plats, land grants, maps, petitions, and other such related papers primarily for the period, 1800–1817. By the very nature of his office, most of the items pertain to land and land surveys in Spanish West Florida (Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana).

In 1817 Pintado left for Havana, Cuba, where he died two years later. Although the United States desperately needed his papers to settle outstanding land claims, the United States refused the widow's offer to buy. She in turn sold them to General John Wilson of Missouri who later gave half of his share to Rezin Bowie, brother of James Bowie of the Alamo. Eventually the collection was deposited in the Louisiana State University Library. W.P.A. transcripts of the LSU collection exist on a five-reel set, but the legibility is very, very poor.

Natchez Trace Collection Provincial & Territorial Documents 1759–1813.

Microfilm	10 rolls		Locality	Louisiana

This collection of documents is a portion of a collection housed at the University of Texas at Austin. The documents are primarily from the colonial and territorial period of Louisiana and Mississippi. They include marriage contracts, conveyances, probates, land surveys, and such private papers as letters, journals, and receipts. Most of the documents were seemingly county and parish courthouse records. They are arranged by location and thereunder in chronological order.

Consult Judy Riffel's Calendar of the Natchez Trace Collection Provincial & Territorial Documents 1759–1813, R016.9763/C149/1999 to determine the contents of the individual reels.
