The probate records of Dallas County, Texas, including guardianship cases and lunacy files, were microfilmed by the Dallas Genealogical Society in 1978. For their contribution to research the Texas Heritage Council presented its award to the society.

All of the cases from the founding of the county in 1846 to 1900 appear in the set. Access to the records is via Index to Probate Cases 1846–1900 Dallas County, Texas, R929.37642/D145I, by Helen Mason Lu. It is arranged alphabetically by the name of the decedent, lunatic, or minor and includes the file number, the status, the executor or guardian, and the case file number. The files themselves are arranged in numerical order. It should be noted that the file numbers are the ones assigned in the 1930s when all of the older cases were classified as "disposed cases." The numbers appearing in the probate records themselves at the Dallas County court house are the old numbers even though the records are now filed under the new numbers so that is essential to utilize this index.

Certificates of Enrollment Issued for Merchant Vessels at Galveston, Texas 1846–1860 and 1865–1870, and Master Abstracts of Enrollments Issued for Merchant Vessels at All Texas Ports 1846–1860 and 1865–June 1911.

Microfilm	2 rolls	NARA M1857	Immigration	Texas

The first roll contains the enrollments issued at all Texas ports for 1846–1860 and 1865–June 1911. The majority are for Galveston, but there are others from Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Eagle Pass, Houston, Indianola, Point (Port) Isabel, La Salle, Lavaca, Port Arthur, Rockport, and Saluria. The second roll features the master abstracts for Galveston 1846–1860 and 1865–1870 and the certificates for enrollment for the same periods.

Certificates of enrollments were made in triplicate. The owner of the vessel retained one on board the vessel, the issuing collector of customs retained the second copy, and the third copy was sent to Washington, D.C.

The certificates usually contain the certificate number, the vessel's official number and call number after 1866, the names and addresses of owners [after 1850 each owner's fraction of ownership is included], name of vessel and home port; name of master of vessel on date of issue; date and place of construction; name of builder; number, place, and date of issue of previous certificate; number of decks and masters; dimensions and tonnage; type of stern, gallery, and figurehead; type or rig; place and date of issue of certificate; and on the recto any endorsements giving the date, place, and surrender of the certificate.

The records are arranged chronologically.

There are approximately 110,000 cards of alien arrival at Eagle Pass, Texas, from 1 July 1928 to June 1953.

There are two types of INS forms—Form 548 or Form I-448 includes the person's name, age, sex, marital status, place of nativity, physical description, occupation, citizenship, race, ability to read and write and in what language, place of last permanent residence, port and date of arrival, destination, purpose for entering the U.S., intention of becoming a U.S. citizen, head tax status, and previous citizenship. It also includes the name and address of the friend or relative the alien intended to join and the name and address of the alien's nearest relative or friend in the country from which he or she came. Previous dates and places of earlier residences, if any, in the United States are also given. Sometimes there are photographs of the alien and his family from 1940 to 1953.

Form I–190 includes the person's name, address, date and place of birth, sex, marital status, occupation, ability to read and write, nationality, weight, visible distinctive marks, and purpose for coming to the U.S. Color of the person's complexion, eyes, and hair, signature, and finger print are also given. The number, date of issuance, and issuing authority of the alien's foreign passport or other identification card are also included.

Manifest of Alien Arrivals at Yseleta, Texas, 1924–1954.

Microfilm	7 rolls	NARA M1849	Immigration	Texas

More than 7,000 records are included in this series. They are arranged by record series: statistical and permanent, temporary, and nonresident alien arrivals; thereunder alphabetical by surname; and thereunder alphabetical by forename.

Form 548 or Form I-448 give the person's name, age, sex, marital status, place of birth, physical description, occupation, citizenship, race, ability to read and write and in what language, place of last permanent residence, port and date of arrival, destination, purpose for entering the U.S., intention of becoming a U.s. citizen or of returning to country of previous residence, head tax status, and previous citizenships. It also has the name and address of the friend or relative whom the alien intended to join, persons accompanying the alien, and the name and address of the alien's nearest relative or friend in the country from which he or she came. Previous dates and places of residence in the U.S. are also given. The cards in the first two series are based on these forms.

The cards in the third series are based on form I–190. It includes the alien's name, date and place of birth, sex, marital status, occupation, ability to read and write, place of residence, citizenship, physical description, purpose of U.S. visit, and fingerprint of right index finger. The number, date of issuance, and place of issuance of the person's passport may also be noted.

Form I-95, I-94(C), I-94(E), and 257D included the alien's name, date and place of birth, sex marital status, occupation, citizenship, physical description, names of accompanying alien children under 14, name and address of nearest relative at home, name and address of person to whom destined, purpose and intended length of U.S. visit, port and date of arrival, and means of transportation.

While the manifests are arranged in chronological order and thereunder by manifest number, there are many exceptions, which are noted in the introductory comments of this micropublication. Most of the alien arrivals are Mexican citizens. Syrians and Japanese, as well as a scattering of Europeans, are also included.

It is necessary to consult two separate indexes to the records. For arrivals prior to 1929 Nonstatistical Arrivals Manifests and Statistical Index Cards of Aliens Arriving at Eagle Pass, Texas, June 190_—November 1929 and Permanent and Statistical at Eagle Pass, Texas, December 19–June 1953. The two indexes provide the date of arrival and the manifest number, which are needed to locate an individual in the records themselves.

Audited Civil and Military Claims [1835–1846].

Microfilm	130 rolls	Locality	Texas

The files consist some of 9,500 audited military claims and 2,000 audited civil claims arranged in a single alphabetical sequence. They are the records of payments for services and goods provided to the Republic of Texas for either military or civil purposes. They consist of claim vouchers, auditor affidavits, War Department pay certificates, discharges, and assignment of benefits, powers of attorney, and pay accounts. In the event that the claimant was deceased, proof of filiation of the next of kin may also appear in the file.

The military claims may be for service in the Texas Army and Navy or other military units of the Republic of Texas; medical, mechanical, and transportation services; goods furnished for military use; goods requisitioned for military purposes; and damages or losses due to military action.

The civil claims may be for service as an elected or appointed official of the Republic of Texas, special relief and pension acts passed by the Congress, and money, goods, and services expended in behalf of the Republic. These would include negotiation with the Indians and other foreign governments.

The claims are arranged in alphabetical order by name of claimant on rolls 1–119. It is important to check all possible spellings of a person's name. Horatio Allsberry might appear as Horatio A. Allsberry, H.A. Allsberry, H.A. Allsbury, Horatio A. Allsbury, H.A. Allsbury, Horatio A. Allsbury, H.A. Allsbury, H.A. Alsbury, Maj. H.A. Alsbury, Horatio A. Alsbury, and Horace Aylesbury.

These are the records of the volunteer soldiers belonging to units from the Texas. The records consist of a jacket envelope for each soldier, labeled with his name, rank, and unit. Following the envelope on the microfilm are card abstracts of entries relating to the soldier as found in original muster rolls, troop returns, and occasionally pay vouchers as well as the originals of any papers relating solely to that particular soldier. The records are arranged according to a complicated organizational breakdown ending with either the regiment or the independent battalion or company. Under each unit the service records are arranged alphabetically. Preceding the records of individual soldiers are the record-of-event cards. These indicate the station of the unit and occasionally the activities in which any portion of the unit had been assigned.

This is the alphabetical card index to the service records of Confederate soldiers belonging to units from Texas. The index card gives the name of the soldier, his rank, and his unit.

The first roll of this set contains in alphabetical order the names of Confederate commanding officers. The card gives the officer's name, his rank, unit, and normally his county of residence. Next is a listing in alphabetical order by county of the commanding officers of each county in Texas. It has been published as Confederate Officers of Texas by Frances T. Ingmire, R973.7464/I52C/1983.

Rolls 2 to 15 are the cards of the enlisted men and officers arranged in alphabetical order. Besides the soldier's name and rank, the name of his commanding officer, his unit, the date and place of enlistment, the date and place of his discharge, his description (i.e., his age, nativity, marital status, and place of residence), and concluding remarks are given. Not all of the cards are complete.

These records pertain to service rendered within the state of Texas. With much of the available manpower out of the state, state and local officials were apprehensive that slave uprising and attacks by Indians would leave the society vulnerable. Older men, young boys, and discharged veterans were likely candidates for inclusion in these forces, which could be likened to the National Guard.

Texas. Comptroller's Office. Confederate Pensions: Applications Approved and Rejected.

The state of Texas processed 54,636 applications for Confederate pensions and approved 52,094 for Confederate veterans or their widows. These are arranged in numerical order with one exception. Applications 20,401–20,471 were photographed out of sequence and appear after 20,600 on the microfilm. The pension numbers are given in Virgil D. White's Index to Texas CSA Pension Files or in John M. Kinney's Index to Applications for Texas Confederate Pensions. The latter is superior because it also includes the index to Confederate home pension applications. The Confederate home pension applications are arranged alphabetically at the end of the set of the series. They are not included in the pension applications themselves. Accordingly, one must either consult the last index of Kinney's book or consult the appropriate roll for the relevant portion of the alphabet. There was a Confederate home both for veterans and for Confederate widows. White's index is superior in that widows are identified with the names of their husbands. Kinney's index is deceptive because the individual who wrote the program for the computer generated index failed to instruct the computer to overlook the title of "Mrs." before a female's name. Accordingly, one must always consult the entries of any particular surname in the letter "M". Kinney also includes entries for those individuals for whom pension application files no longer survive. These are marked with an asterisk (*). Whereas White's index encompasses both approved and rejected applications in one sequence, Kinney's index segregates the two.

The microfilm consists of four sections. The first and largest are the approved applications. The rejected applications, in alphabetical order, constitute the second section. The third consists of the Confederate home pension applications in alphabetical order. The last roll of the set has miscellaneous accepted and rejected pension applications.

The Texas legislature instituted the pension program on 12 May 1899. The law required that the applicant, whether the veteran or his widow, to have been a resident of Texas prior to 1 January 1880, be either over 60 years of age or be disabled from actual service in the Confederate army or navy for a period of service of three months or more, and who had not deserted. Widows had to have married prior to 1 March 1866, had been a resident of Texas prior to 1 March 1880, were in indigent circumstances, and who had not remarried, i.e., did not have a living spouse. Accordingly, any Texan who meant these requirements could apply. The service could have been from any former state of the Confederate States of America.

In 1925 the pension act underwent revision. It included every indigent or disabled veteran who came to Texas prior to 1 January 1910. Widows had to have been born prior to 1861 and have become Texas residents prior to 1910. The 1925 act extended coverage to those who had served in units protecting the frontier against the Indians and the Mexicans as well as to indigent or disabled soldiers of the state militia active during the period 1861–1865.

Microfilm	1 roll	Loca	lity	Texas

This ledger is arranged alphabetically by the initial letter of the surname of the veteran or his widow. Each entry gives the name of the person; where born and when; company, regiment, division, and army; marital status; year when he or she came to Texas; residence; date of admission; disability; religious persuasion; disposition, i.e., death, discharge, or dismissal; whom and where to write in case of death; and remarks [e.g., "buried in the state cemetery"].

These have been transcribed and augmented in Kathryn Hooper Davis, Texas Confederate Home Roster with Added Data from Confederate Home Ledgers, R929.3764/D262T/2003.

Military—World War I

United States. Selective Service System. Texas, World War I Selective Service System Draft Registration Cards, 1917–1918.

Microfilm	183 rolls	Locality	Texas

During the Great World War, Congress passed the Selective Service Act on 18 May 1917 authorizing the President to increase the military establishment. The Selective Service System had the responsibility of selecting men for induction into the military. By no means did all of the registrants actually enter military service.

The records are arranged by county and thereunder alphabetically by name of registrant. There were three different registrations. The first was on 5 June 1917 for all men between 21 and 31 years of age. The next was on 5 June 1918 for those who attained age 21. The last was on 12 September 1918 for all men aged 18 to 45. The following information usually appears: name, residence, age, date and place of birth, citizenship information, occupation, employer, dependent or nearest relative, marital status, race, physical description, and date of registration.

The last roll of the state contains the registrations of individuals omitted from their usual county of residence.

Republic of Texas Pensions.

Microfilm	48 rolls	Locality	Texas

The 1869 Constitution of the state of Texas authorized the legislature to grant pension relief to surviving veterans of the Revolution of 1836 from Mexico. The act of 13 August 1870 provided for benefits of $250 to veterans including the Mier prisoners. If wounded in any engagement or as a prisoner of war, each veteran received an additional $250 per year.

The legislature expanded coverage in 1874 to include the Santa Fe and Mier prisoners, the survivors of the company of Captain Dawson who was massacred near San Antonio in 1842, the survivors of those who were captured at San Antonio in the autumn of 1842 and taken to the Castle at Perote and confined therein, and the survivors of Deaf Smith's spy company. The 1874 act provided for $150 per annum with a like amount for those who were permanently disabled in the service or who had lost their sight or limb due to any cause. Applicants had to demonstrate insufficient means of support.

Additional pension acts narrowed the pool of eligible claimants to soldiers and volunteers who saw service between 1835 and 1 January 1837, the surviving signers of the Declaration of Independence, and widows who had not remarried. Each claimant had to prove indigency, which in 1885 was defined as owning property not exceeding $1,000 and proof that a claimant had not transferred such property to another party within the twelve months preceding the application. The maximum amount was set at $150 per annum.

The overwhelming response under the act of 1876 led to its repeal in 1879 because there was a deficit of more than $150,000 even before all of the claims had been processed.

It was not until 1883 that new pensioners were added to the rolls.

A file consists of a pension certificate, detailed accounts of military service, power of attorney, certified copy of military service, affidavits from neighbors and compatriots, and proof of identity giving such details as age, place of enlistment, place of residence, date and place of birth, date of immigration to Texas, and names of others with whom he served. A widow had to provide her husband's name, his date of death, the dates of his service, his company commander, her age, and her county of residence. The records are arranged in alphabetical order by name of veteran.

Abstracts appear in Republic of Texas Pension Application Abstracts, R976.4/R426/1987.

There is an every-name index to the records located at the web site of Texas State Library and Archives.

In observation of the sesquicentenary of the state of Texas in 1996, the Texas State Genealogical Society began a program to recognize early residents of Texas from the Spanish, Mexican, and Republic of Texas eras. The applications are similar to those use for hereditary societies with proof of residence of the ancestor and documentation for the line of descent. The applications are numbered 1 to 4401. Descent from the propositus, collateral or direct, resident in Texas prior to 19 February 1846 constituted eligibility.

Texas Ranger Service Records, 1919-1935.

There are three categories, each of which is alphabetically arranged:

Loyalty Rangers, 1919-1920, 1 roll

Regular Rangers, 1919-1935, 2 rolls

Special Rangers, 1919–1935, 7 rolls. There is normally an oath of service and a description questionnaire for each ranger. The latter contains his place of birth, age in years and months, occupation, date of enlistment, complexion, eye and hair color, marital status, weight, residence, place and date of enlistment, and enlisting officer.

The enlistment records vary somewhat in the data collected for each ranger over the years.

Convict Record Ledgers (1849–1954) [and] Convict Record Ledgers Indexes (1849–1970).

Micro	itiim i	22 rolls	Locality	Texas

These ledgers pertain to incarcerations in the Huntsville Penitentiary, which opened in 1849, and the Rusk Penitentiary, which operated from 1833 to 1891. An entry contains some or all of the following data for a prisoner: the convict's number, name/alias, age, height, weight, complexion, eye color, hair color, marks, marital relations, use of tobacco, habits, education, occupation, nativity, time of conviction, offense, terms of imprisonment, county, residence, money, when received, expiration of sentence, and remarks. From 1891 the ability to read and to write, the number of years of schooling, date of birth, birthplace of father, birthplace of mother, plea, and previous military service are included.

One should undertake a search by determining the name and period of time to be searched. Check the indexes to locate the convict's number. Use that number to find the corresponding entry in the ledgers. An entry in the index will provide the convict's name, county of conviction, year of entry, and the convict's number. There is considerable overlap of dates and entries in the individual indexes, especially between 1849 and 1915. If you are searching for convicts prior to 1882, it will be necessary to check three separate indexes.

Entries in the indexes are arranged alphabetically by the initial letter and first vowel of the surname and thereunder chronologically. It should be emphasized that continuation of entries with the same letter and vowel may be found at the preceding or following letter pairs.

Another obstacle is that convicts may be listed under nicknames and aliases.

Convicts may have had more than one number and may have been in both penitentiaries if they were incarcerated more than once so it is necessary to search the indexes accordingly.

The entries are arranged in numerical order by the convict's number(s). Those for Rusk range from 1 to 4,622. If a convict was first incarcerated in Huntsville and later transferred to Rusk after it opened, the Rusk number could antedate the founding of that institution.

At the Huntsville Prison there were two series of numbering sequences—A and B. The A series began in 1849 and was discontinued in 1882. Series A ranged from 1 to 10,012 in 1882. Series B began in 1882. From Series A numbers 10,001 to 10,012 were reassigned Series B numbers 1 to 12. The year of incarceration provides the data to identify the series correctly.

The Nacogdoches Archives (1753–1836).

Microfilm	27 rolls	Locality	Texas

These are the records of the Spanish and Mexican governments at the national and municipal level of the province and state of Coahuila y Texas and of Nacogdoches and vicinity. They include decrees, reports, correspondence, and military records from the mid-eighteenth into the early nineteenth century.

Important genealogical sources include the registers of character certificates and oaths of citizenships from the 1820s to 1835. Foreigners arriving in Coahuila y Texas had to prove by certificates from the local authorities in their former place of residence that they were Christians and of good moral character. Foreigners seeking citizenship had to appear before municipal authorities and on oath swear to obey the general Constitution and that of the State, to observe the official religion, and register their names and those of their family. They had to note their country of origin, marital status, and occupation.

The entrance certificates give name, marital status, and date of issue. The citizenship certificates give name, age, place of previous residence, marital status, religion, and occupation. Those of the 1820s also give the length of residence in Texas.

Betty Fagan Burr's Nacogdoches Archives, 1835 Entrance Certificates, R929.3764/B968N, provides abstracts of the genealogical information from the records. The original records are found on rolls 16 and 17.

Another important category of records is the padrones or censuses dating from 1783 to 1835. They consist of mission rolls, reports of foreigners, and statistical recapitulations. There are also censuses of ranches from 1797 to 1826. The mission rolls give the names of Indians as heads of households and all other names in the family. The report of foreigners gives the name, residence or nationality, age, marital status, wife's name, and children with their sexes and ages. The ranch censuses give the family names and information and data as to the number of head of livestock such as cattle, horse, and sheep. The padrones give the name of the head of household, marital status, occupation, religion, age, and family members. The lists of foreigners give name, country, former place of residence, profession, passport, passport number and date of issue, date of presentation, and place of residence. These records appear on rolls 22 and 23.

The election registers date from 1823 to 1835. They give the names of persons who voted in elections and the names of the persons for whom they voted. It should be noted that the alphabetized lists, when do occur, are arranged by the Christian name rather than by surname. They appear on rolls 22 and 23.

The military company lists give the names in descending rank indicating the name of the soldier, his rank, and, if applicable, the reason for his absence. There are also daily operational roster of events for units. The records are contained on roll 24.

San Fernando Cathedral Sacramental Records, 1703-1911.

-------------------	----------	-------	--

The records are usually arranged in the categories of baptisms, deaths, and marriages. Pastoral letters, decrees, and confirmations are also included. The earliest records are segregated by race with separate registers for Indians and Europeans. Some of the records overlap, and in some cases one type of sacramental record may be entered in a book for another type of sacramental record. Unused pages in a sacramental register that had been retired have in many instances been reactivated to continue with the same record for a much later date. There are separate registers for the San Jose Mission covering the following: baptisms 1777–1823, marriages 1793–1822 and 1778–1792, and deaths 1781–1824. There are also separate registers for the military company at the Alamo; they are: baptisms 6 Mar. 1788–1823. The records are not necessarily filmed in chronological order.

There is an index to some of the baptisms: Yolanda Juarez Patiño, Index to the San Fernando Baptismal Records, 1731–1850, 2 volumes, R976.4351/J911/2001; and to some of the marriages: Yolanda Juarez Patiño, Index to the San Fernando Marriage Records, 1742–1850, 2 volumes, R929.37643/J911/2003.

The entry consists of the surname and forename(s) of the decedent, the Social Security number if available, the county of death, the month and date of death [but not the year], the date of birth, age of death, sex, race, the file number [consisting of the certificate number followed by a hyphen and the last two digits of the year of death], and [sometimes] the father's surname. In the case of females, the latter would be the decedent's maiden name.

Index to Texas Death Records, 1903-1976.

This is the alphabetical index to all of the deaths reported to the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Austin, Texas. It is subdivided into various spans of time. They are: 1903–1940, 1941–1945, 1946–1955, and thereafter annually.

An entry contains the name of the deceased, the date of death, the county of death, and the death certificate number.

Texas Voter Registrations of 1867–1870.

Microfilm	12 rolls	Locality	Texas

The Reconstruction Act of 13 March 1867 required the commanding officer in each military district of the former Confederacy to complete by 1 September 1867 a registration of all qualified voters in each county of his district. The list would identify the eligible voters for the proposed Constitutional Convention. The records are a good source for information about newly enfranchised black voters. The name of the registrant, his place of residence, precinct, length of residence, native country or state, and naturalization information (where appropriate) are given. The records are arranged by county and by the name of the individual as he presented himself for registration.

The Index is a CD-ROM application on computer #12.
